The screenshot shows the OPAC SBN website. At the top, there is a dark navigation bar with the ICCU logo, social media icons, and links for LOGIN, SUBSCRIBE, and language selection (EN). Below this is an orange header bar containing the OPAC SBN logo and a navigation menu with links: ABOUT US, ADVANCED SEARCH (circled in blue), AUTHORITIES, OTHER CATALOGUES, SERVICES, and LIBRARIES. The main search area features a large text input field labeled 'Search SBN catalogue', a dropdown menu set to 'in all fields', and a 'Type of resource' field. To the right of these fields are two buttons: 'Search' and 'Advanced search' (circled in blue). Below the search area, the text 'OPAC SBN' is displayed in large bold letters, followed by 'Collective catalog of the National Library Service'. A paragraph explains that the OPAC system allows bibliographic searches in the collective catalog of Italian libraries. A 'Read more' button is located below this text. At the bottom left, there is a gear icon for settings.

What if the full-text is unavailable and the library doesn't hold the printed journal?

Document delivery service (DD)

<http://agraria.sba.unibo.it/it/servizi/fornitura-documenti/fornitura-di-documenti>

- The library requests the article to other Italian or foreign libraries
 - You can request up to 5 articles at a time
- The article will be sent to your institutional email (as a PDF that you must print and then delete), or sometimes delivered to you as a hardcopy
- The requests must respect the current regulations about the copyright law (15% of the whole issue)
- The service is usually free, only possible fees have to be refunded if requested by the lending library

Scopus

Elsevier

Scopus è una banca dati citazionale che indicizza oltre 20.800 riviste "peer reviewed" pubblicate da oltre 5.000 editori, oltre 400 collezioni di libri, circa 6,4 milioni di conference papers. Attualmente contiene circa 54 milioni di record (di cui 33 milioni hanno copertura retrospettiva fino al 1996 e contengono le citazioni bibliografiche presenti nel documento, mentre 21 milioni risalgono fino al 1823 senza contenere però le citazioni). Tra le funzionalità citazionali più importanti Scopus consente di: a) ottenere l'H-Index (proposto nel 2005 da Jorge E. Hirsch della California di San Diego), un indicatore bibliometrico che misura l'impatto degli autori all'interno della comunità scientifica al numero delle pubblicazioni e al numero di citazioni ricevute. b) effettuare l'analisi citazionale degli autori e delle relative (attraverso il Citation Tracker). c) effettuare la ricerca e l'analisi del profilo degli autori e affiliazioni di appartenenza.

1 Performance Evaluation of Electrically Driven Agricultural Implements Powered by an External Generator

Varani, M; Mattetti, M and Molari, G
Aug 2021 | AGRONOMY-BASEL 11 (8)

Enriched Cited References

In the last decade, many studies have been conducted on tractor and agricultural machinery electrification. In particular, the electrification of power take-off (PTO)-powered implements could support many benefits, such as improved comfort and safety during implement connection, less noisiness, accurate control of the implement rotational speed, and fuel consumption reduction. However, commercially available tractors do not ger ... Show more

Analysis of the exterior colour of agroindustrial buildings: a computer aided approach to landscape integration

García, I.; Hernández, J and Ayuga, F

Sep 2003 | JOURNAL OF ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT 69 (1) , pp.93-104

The visual and aesthetic aspects of any object are defined by its colour, form, line and texture, to which might be added compositional reference elements such as scale and, in the case of three dimensional scenes, spatial character. This paper investigates one of these colour and proposes a method for predicting the value of a building's integration into the landscape. Based on psychological aspects, the method uses computers t ... Show more

18th International Scientific Conference on Engineering for Rural Development (ERD)

2019 | 18TH INTERNATIONAL SCIENTIFIC CONFERENCE ENGINEERING FOR RURAL DEVELOPMENT , pp.1726-1735

In most industrialized countries fixed assets dominate in the structure of national wealth. As elements of fixed assets, the authors of this article consider industrial and non-industrial buildings as part of enterprises of the agroindustrial complex. The study of the effectiveness of building restoration shows that the criteria for effective repair and reconstruction of a building are the maximum reduction in physical wear and minimum c ... pacts canine and feline behavioural welfare.•A tool to assess behavioural welfare practices veterinary clinics. Interviews had higher reliability and feasibility than appointment view responses were inconsistent with observations, indicating low validity. •A mixed s needed to maximize reliability, feasibility and validity. Veterinary care can both positively act animal welfare in terms of behavioural welfare. This occurs both in the veterinary clinic is with patients and management of their stress, fear and aggression, and in the animal's provision of behaviour and training advice for behavioural management as a whole. An assessment scheme, incorporating management-, resource- and animal-based measures of rugh interviews and appointment observations, was developed to assess practices related are in small animal veterinary clinics. It was tested for reliability, validity, and feasibility in mixed animal veterinary clinics, and information concerning current behavioural welfare collected. Based on weighted kappa statistics, inter-observer reliability showed almost for interview scoring (Kw=0.82 and 0.81) and substantial agreement for appointment observation scoring (Kw=0.74 and 0.70); however, at the individual question and handling item level, weighted kappa statistics for inter-observer reliability ranged greatly. Interviews were more feasible to carry out than appointment observations, although discrepancies between interview responses and veterinary staff-patient interactions observed during appointments suggest that interviews might be a less valid measure. Descriptive results suggest that there is enough variability in most assessed areas to allow for differentiation between veterinary clinics on the basis of their behavioural welfare practices. Additional research is required to explore these trends in strengths and areas for improvement in a larger sample of veterinary clinics.

Citation and Citation styles

- “A citation is a reference to a published or unpublished source” (Wikipedia)
- A citation should supply all the details to uniquely identify the documents:
 - for books: title, author/s, publisher, year of publication, pages, ISBN
 - for articles: title, author/s, journal title, year, volume, issue, pages, ISSN, DOI
- A citation style is the format which regulates how the document details have to be provided.

Citation and Citation styles

There are 2 main groups of citations:

In-text citations: they are within the body of text of an academic essay (a book, a paper or thesis). They alert the readers that you have taken that information from a source.

They are usually brief and their format depends on the citation style you chose for your work.

An in-text citation redirects the reader to a reference list of bibliographic citations included in the final bibliography of a document.

reference or bibliographic citation:

They are usually included at the end of a work (book, thesis, article etc...) and they provide all the details useful to identify a source.

To every in-text citation corresponds a reference one and the list of all the reference citations assembles your final bibliography.

Features of zotero

- Importing references from a web page or from citation data (BiBTeX, RIS, etc);
- Organization of citations within the reference manager database;
- Annotation of citations;
- Sharing of the reference manager database or portions with colleagues (you need to create an account first)
- Producing formatted citations in different styles;
- Working with word-processors through a plug-in.

From almost every database, once installed the zotero connector in your browser, you can import the results of your reasearch in zotero, organize them in «collections», produce a bibliography to export or create the bibliography of your own paper directly in your Word document.

Please notice: the completeness of data depends on the database from which that reference has been imported.

Sometimes one or more fields might be empty (because that information was not in the original database, or, for example, for a metadata error that caused a wrong importation). In these cases you'll just have to complete the empty fields by yourself in order to derive a complete citation from it in your bibliography

On the very day that I had come to this conclusion (Lakso et al., 1999) I was standing at the Criterion Bar, when some one tapped me on the shoulder, and turning round I recognized young Stamford (Tustin et al., 1992) who had been a dresser under me at Barts. The sight of a friendly face in the great wilderness of London is a pleasant thing indeed to a lonely man (Weller, 2010) in old days Stamford had never been a particular crony of mine (Gianmarco Veruggio et al., 2016) but now I hailed him with enthusiasm, and he, in his turn, appeared to be delighted to see me (Downey et al., 1995).

Formazione - Information literacy

Il servizio di formazione rivolto a studenti, docenti e ricercatori, dottorandi, assegnisti e personale dell'Università di Bologna.

La biblioteca organizza, su richiesta dei docenti DISTAL, seminari ed esercitazioni bibliografiche per gli studenti, all'interno degli insegnamenti. I corsi possono avere durata e contenuti variabili a seconda del tipo di studio e di corso di laurea dei partecipanti. Per i dottorandi e per gli studenti stranieri ci sono invece percorsi specifici. Per richiedere l'attività è possibile utilizzare il modulo online indicando la biblioteca di Agraria come Biblioteca di riferimento

A tutti i partecipanti, si chiede di compilare il Questionario di gradimento.

Lo staff della biblioteca contribuisce inoltre ad offrire l'insegnamento dell'Information Literacy nell'ambito dell'offerta formativa per le competenze trasversali. Per altri approfondimenti sul servizio consulta la pagina dedicata alla Formazione e all'Information Literacy del Sistema Bibliotecario di Ateneo
